Habitat Family News

Like all parents in Pasco County, Habitat homeowner Raeven Harris had to make a decision about what the 2020 school year would look like. Becoming a homeowner played a big role in her school decision. Raeven closed on her affordable Habitat home in the middle of the pandemic.

"Having my home has helped me make the decision to be able to home school my children in a safe environment as well as giving us the space we needed to be able to do it." explained Harris. " Prior to getting our Habitat home, we didn't have enough room for my family to live in and definitely not enough to create an appropriate learning environment for my children. Now my children have a classroom that can grow with them as the get older thanks to Habitat!"

You Can Make a Difference

Did You Know Habitat Tithes?

Over the last 25 years, Habitat Pasco has tithed $412,000 to North Macedonia. Your support over the years has made this partnership possible!

Tithing is a cornerstone of the Habitat for Humanity vision, as it allows us to build a WORLD where everyone has a decent place to live. Through tithing we can make a greater impact locally and globally. By taking 10% of what we have been blessed with as an affiliate and giving back to other communities in need, we also give back to God, whose love we seek to put into action. Affiliates only tithe on unrestricted donations. If a donor wishes her/his contribution to remain within our local community, none of that donation will be used in international Habitat building.

Troubled by regional conflicts and kept away from the European integration processes, North Macedonia hasn't made significant social and economic progress during the past decades. The poor quality of housing stock inherited from the period of centrally planned economy is still considered key determinant of the housing need.
