Habitat Family News

Heather Knapp and her son Aiden were able to open the door on their new Habitat home just as school started it again. Heather, a school board employee, was excited to be starting a new year with a home of their own.

"I applied for Habitat because we were having a hard time finding big enough apartments in our price range, and the idea of having a place to call our own and the stability that comes with it is a huge blessing. We are most excited about turning this house into our home, and making amazing memories doing what we love, which includes cooking, growing our own veggies and plants, and doing a ton of arts and crafts."

You made this happen! Your voice, your financial support and your time helps Habitat build homes for families who are in need of a safe, decent, affordable home.
